

Lincoln Park

1. Active Endeavors This Chicago-area minichain is a peerless resource for emerging labels—like Julie Haus, Myne, and Chimala—and is also one of the best boutique e-tailers around. Plus, its outstanding denim selection covers all the bases, from the ubiquitous (James, J Brand) to the underground (Corpus, Ksubi). 853 W. Armitage Ave., 773-281-8100

2. Barneys Co-op Find a pitch-perfect assortment of Mayle tops, Sissi Rossi bags, and Daryl K-189 jeans in the city's only branch of this NYC chain. 2209 N. Halsted St., 773-248-0426

3. Endo Exo At this decade-old, newly renovated apothecary, you can shop from lines including Shu Uemura, Tracie Martyn, Natura Bissé, and Kevyn Aucoin, or opt for in-store makeup applications and sample testing in the beautifully lit glass conservatory. 2034 N. Halsted St., 773-525-0500

4. Intermix The newest Chicago branch of this minichain boasts on-point clothes and accessories from Stella McCartney, Chloé, and Loeffler Randall. 841 W. Armitage Ave., 773-404-8766

5. Isabella Fine Lingerie We didn't believe it until we experienced it, but owner Lauren Amerine is a phenom when it comes to determining bra size—no measuring required. Take advantage of her skills and let her find you the most flattering style from Parah, Le Mystère, Sixty Eight, or The Lake & Stars. 1101 W. Webster Ave., 773-281-2352

6. Kaveri In keeping with the upscale-yet-easygoing feel of the neighborhood, this year-old spot concentrates on pieces that meld the sophisticated with the laid-back: Rag & Bone trenches, Mike & Chris canvas jackets, and Gryson's famed Olivia bag, now in lightweight nylon. 1211 W. Webster Ave., 773-296-2141

7. SHE The acronym stands for "she has everything," and true to its claim, this cast-iron corner shop presents a stunningly broad yet strikingly well-edited range of clothing and accessories, from Castle Starr brocade dresses to '80s-influenced Grey Ant suspender trousers. 1024 W. Armitage Ave., 773-880-8061
