

San Antonio

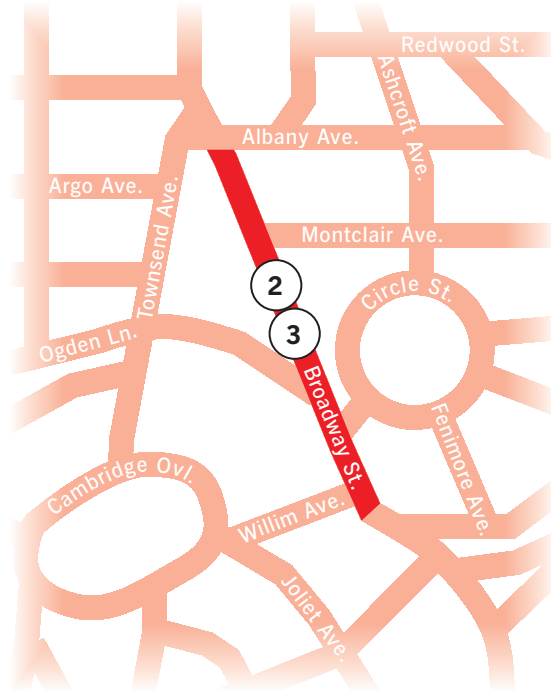

1. Galeana Year-old Galeana is the best place in San Antonio's historic Monte Vista neighborhood to pick up on-trend pieces from such names as Nave, Dorothy Lee, and Julie Haus. The dressing rooms are the most user-friendly we've seen: They're built large to encourage friends to try on clothing together.

2508 N. Main Ave., 210-735-2227

2. Penny Lane Inspired by her sister's beloved Houston store, Abejas, Courtney Beauchamp opened this warm, welcoming San Antonio boutique, a dressed-down environment that offers clothing from Kerry Cassill, Clu, and Burning Torch.

5928 Broadway St., 210-826-9007

3. Sloan/Hall So exquisite are the taste levels of Marcus Sloan and Shannon Hall that each item in their shops—there's one in Houston, too—feels like an amazing find. The stock includes painstakingly crafted ceramics, jewelry, and glassware—some magnificent, some bizarre, like a Nymphenberg statue of a nobleman or a taxidermied white peacock. 5922 Broadway St., 210-828-7738
